

Subject: Welcome to the My Three Keys - Friends & Family Beta Testing!

Hello and Welcome

We are excited to invite you to participate in the Friends & Family Beta Test for our new application - My Three Keys! We've been working incredibly hard on this app to build a platform that delivers safety through simplicity and privacy and we need your help to put it through its paces before it goes live to the public.

What is My Three Keys?

My Three Keys is a privacy-first safety app that lets users prepare for an event or activity by listing where they are going, when they will return (the duration of the event), and who they will be with—this information remains completely private and is only shared with your designated trusted contact if you miss a scheduled check-in. There is no shared tracking or active surveillance - just clarity and an automated safety net if something goes wrong.

Beta Testing expectations:

Our goal during this phase is to thoroughly test the app's stability and core features. We want you to use the app in real-world scenarios, but we also want you to try to fool it, break it, make it crash, or find confusing features. Your feedback is what will make this app secure and reliable.

How to Install and Get Started

We will be utilizing a phased rollout for our testing platforms. You will receive an official invitation email shortly based on your device type:

- Apple iOS Users: You will receive an email invitation from TestFlight. Follow the link in that email to install the TestFlight app, where the My Three Keys icon will be waiting for you.
- Android Users: You will receive an invitation email containing a direct link to install the app through the Google Play Store beta track.

Your First Steps inside the App:

1. Set Up Your Profile: Launch the app and fill out your user profile.
2. Add Your Trusted Contacts: Set up your primary safety contacts. Important: Please let your trusted contacts know ahead of time that they will receive an automated opt-in text or message from My Three Keys so they know it is safe to accept.
3. Test & Report: If you spot a bug, glitch, or confusing menu, report it directly through the TestFlight or Google Play Console feedback tools. (Pro-tip: Always include a screenshot!).

Your honest feedback is absolutely crucial to our success, and we cannot thank you enough for supporting us in launching My Three Keys. We can't wait to hear what you think!

Best regards,

The My Three Keys Team

Chris, Amanda, Jim, Nic and Tony plus an awesome support staff.
